AFFINITY GROUPS

Affinity groups offer the opportunity for psychologically safer interaction among attendees who self-identify as members of the same group. You know you are in the right affinity group if you can say unequivocally, "I am ___" and speak to that group's collective experience from the "I" perspective. Another metric is the group you select on official documents or forms. Affinity group work is critical to the success of SDLC. While optional, please select the affinity group you are most likely to attend so we can plan and accommodate these groups.
